CHEMISTRY BUILDING

AT STORRS BURNED Early Morning Fire at College-Loss $30,000 With $10,700 Insurance-Defective Chimney Suspected.

The chemistry building at State, Agricultural college at Storrs, was totally destroyed by fire, early Tuesday morning. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with $10,700 insurance carried on the building and its contents.

The fire was discovered by the community watchman at about two o'clock and at that time the flames were coming through the roof. The bell in the main building was rung and bell in the main building was rung and students and people from he town came to aid in putting the fire out. It was soon apparent that the chemistry building was doomed, so they turned their efforts to preventing the blaze from catching on the administration or main building which was only 100 feet distant. Sparks set this building afire several times but the volunteers did good work with the streams of water from the big standpipe on the hill, although the side of the building was scorched and damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

unpleasant by the low temperature, as it was only five degrees above zero. While two students were on a ladder fighting the fire, the ladder broke and one of them was injured in the hand. It is thought that the fire started from a defective chimney.

Mayor D. P. Dunn was called up and asked if he would send the fire truck to their aid but he said that to send the only piece of fire fighting apparatus that distance out of the city at that time would not be advisable.

The destroyed building was a two-story brick structure with basement. It was one of the oldest buildings at the college. For quite a while the the college. For quite a while the boilers had been in need of repair but this had not been done and is probably the cause of the fire. The building was erected in 1890 and was used for the students in chemistry, the laboratories, class rooms and the office of the department. Howard D. Newton, Ph. D. has charge of the instruction, assisted has charge of the instruction, assisted by Herman Edwards and John Hughes.

The fineup of the varsity is not known with the exception of the forwards, who will probably be Howie and Arwho will probably be Howie and Arthur Lamoureux as last year. For center, Leo Lamoureux or John Sullivan look good, the first one having quite a reputation in basketball circles while Sullivan played forward on the sophomore team last year. The guard positions could be filled with Homer Hawkins or Everett Robinson, who played forward in the class games and Costello and Tighe who have played guard in the class contests. The "featherweight" forwards, Duffy Connell and Keeney Lathrop are in good form but they are too light for the first team. Others who may be the first team. Second Lieutenant John F. Sullivan Home From Plattsburg-Notes and

Recently two young men, both students in school, wishing to keep up to the patriotic spirit of the times and to swell the ranks of volunteers and to swell the ranks of volunteers from this village, decided to enlist in Uncle Sam's navy. Probably the uniform attracted them, then again there was a possibility that the solving of X, Y, and Z problems in school were too hard, also they probably wanted to be officers, which made them leave the good town and attempt to enlist. The recruiting officer told them: It they had better inturn home and go to school. Both youths were surprised that they youths were surprised that they should be immediately spotted as schoolboys; they returned home and happy, nevertheless that they had proven themselves among the loyal patriots and were not to be counted

"Something from New Orleans" -a Delicious Southern Pudding

Brer Rabbit Pudding a la Louisiana Have this dessert with "light" dinners—this pudding is a very satisfying dish in itself.

Mix four cups milk, one-half cup Brer Rabbit Molasses, one-half cup washed rice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt. Stir this mixture thoroughly. Bake in slow oven about two and one-half hours, stirring four times (every fifteen minutes) and add three teaspoons butter on fourth stirring. Don't tell the folks what you have for dessert—just say —"something from New Orleans."

Not only in this pudding, but in every pudding you make (wherein you use molasses) be sure of flavor. Use Brer Rabbit real Molasses.

Sending South for Brer Rabbit is a thing of the past. Almost any first-class grocer-your own-can supply you in small, medium or large size cans-just as you prefer.

Brer Rabbit is mighty good on pancakes and biscuits-children prefer it on bread. The U. S. Government shows in Farmers' Bulletin No. 142, that the fuel value of molasses is greater, per pound, than steak, fish, chicken, soup, bread or milk. .

But see that your grocer gives you Brer Rabbit. Packed only in clean, airtight cans. Write today for new Brer Rabbit Recipe Beok. Free.

SOUTH WILLINGTON Sardner H. Hall Writes from England -Adventures and Experiences-New Probably in France-Week's Contributions for French Food Fund. The following letter was received last week by Mrs. W. H. Hall from her son. Gardiner H. Hall, on active service in the American expeditionary forces, Southampton, England:

Dear Family:

What Home Means.

Believe me, folks, you don't realize what a family and father and mother means until you are 3,000 miles away from them! The States are a paradise to me now, and I will be glad for anything when I get back, you can bet!

My regards to all the people in town and all my friends, and best love to where he contracted it.

Reura to Norwich.

Well, here I am at last, on foreign soil, and I am certainly glad that we are here. We left on the morning of the 9th of October for "somewhere in Canada" and slept all night on board the train. When we boarded the ship at Montreal we were stuck way down in the C compartment, which was in the bow, below the waterline. It was a stuffy place, believe me. Wo went from the dock at Montreal to Quebec: there we took on 200 Serbs and 100 Canadians with our own four companies.

The first day out a storm came on in the Bay of Fundy and the fun started. Several hundred who cried hard to eat their meals went to their bunks empty—I for one. On top of that, I was on guard that night on the forward deck and during one shift from 1 until 3 a, m, the waves broke over the deck a good many times and I got all the water I wanted to wash in and walk in that whole journey!

A Stormy Trip.

For that matter, it was stormy the whole trip. We were in Halifax for one day and there eight other transports joined as and one cruiser, the Baltic for one, which has been reported sunk six different times.

Just outside the danger zone we met nine British convoys who stayed with the rest of the way. No "subb" us the rest of the way. No "subs' were sighted, but we wore lifebelts all the way and at all times, and you can bet we didn't sleep muc. Once inside the harbor at Liverpool, our funny feelings were over for a while,

We unloaded there at 5 30 and at 8.30 entrained for somewhere, which later we found to be Borden, a camp of mud and water and tents, those ittel dog tents; but six of us slept or heaps of straw under one of them. We tile dog tents; but six of us slept on heaps of straw under one of them. We were there only one night and the next morning got up at 4, had rainsoaked bread and coffee for our breakfast, boarded a train und came here to Southampton, the first large place we have struck. We marched six miles to the American rest camp.
